Early life Wolfson grew up in a blue collar working-class family in Long Island, New York. Her father, Ed Wolfson, was a specialist in the back-end processes of licensing the broadcast spectrum for early radios. He was a 1950 graduate of NYU Tandon School of Engineering and served in the US Army during the Korean War. Her mother, Dorothy, was a housewife who raised Edith and her two sisters. Wolfson describes her adolescence as "a series of shifts from Brooklyn to Long Island to Jamaica, Queens, to Brooklyn again, to Maplewood, 3da54e8ca3
